I just purchased a chord wheel yesterday and realized that most of my songs were/ are in key of c. Not on purpose, just the way its been.

I thought well maybe I will intentionally write a song in key of D.

On Tuesday while Jim was watching t.v. I played around with D A G D finger picking the chords to hear the tones together.

Today was college. Of course everything was fighting me, while trying to get ready. I was packing the van the phone rings and its my Mom calling (5 minutes before 9:00), I usually leave at 9:00 for my tutoring time. Mom called to let me know that Conrad is in the hospital and that he will have surgery tomorrow, Thursday morning.

I sat to pray for him, after getting off the phone. Then I started to pack up again, however, its like God just said, sit down I have a message for you. So I sat down, got my guitar and paper and started to write this song. One hour pasted and the song was basicly done other than typing so I can read it. When writing things my hand writing is messy. Sloppy, since I write so fast just to get the ideas down before they leave my brain cells. Not sure why God did this. But I am sure He will show me.

Even though I got to college late, I was still able to see folks to say goodbye, was able to go to Wow, then all my classes. Then home quickly so Jim and I could get to the Mayors Showcase judging in time. God worked everything out.

Acts 15:18 (TLB)

¹⁸That is what the Lord says, who reveals his plans made from the beginning.

Psalms 20:4-5 (NIV)

⁴May he give you the desire of your heart and make all your plans succeed.

⁵We will shout for joy when you are victorious and will lift up our banners in the name of our God. May the LORD grant all your requests.

Proverbs 19:21 (NIV)

²¹Many are the plans in a man's heart, but it is the LORD's purpose that prevails.

Romans 8:27-28 (TLB)

²⁷And the Father who knows all hearts knows, of course, what the Spirit is saying as he pleads for us in harmony with God's own will.

²⁸And we know that all that happens to us is working for our good if we love God and are fitting into his plans.
